
Es gibt keinen Gott außer Gott

The good fruits from the biographies of the female companions

The believing female companions, women, oh what women, figures reaching the heights of the sky and aims soaring to attain the pleasure of the lord of the heavens.
With their virtues, books and pens flourish, and with the fragrance of their mention, speech is perfumed.
Through their beautiful stories, gatherings are adorned, and in the path of the religion, they sacrificed souls and wealth.
They are the best of women, the sisters of the best of men, the wives of the honored companions, and the mothers of valiant champions.

They are the honorable, the best of women, sincere in faith, steadfast in supporting the creed and guidance, elevated by sincerity and faith, the devout, the loyal, and the pure in the heart and the body.
They have achieved the highest ranks in attaining the satisfication of Allah and have reached the best levels of goodness.
They are the noble, pure, righteous female companions who exerted effort in jihad and calling to islam.
They dedicated themselves to worshiping the lord, devotedly serving in jihad, and striving to attain the satisfication of the lord of all beings.
They adhered to the etiquette of islam and drew from the fountain of prophethood.
They competed in goodness and generously donated their wealth and possessions in the cause of Allah.
They are secluded in sight and hearing, the ones who draw close to their husbands with good companionship and attentive listening.
Their souls are devoted to obedience, persistent.
Their tongues always making rembrance of Allah, their aspirations high, their manners noble and generous, their hearts free from doubts, their limbs lively yet modest, and their tongues chaste and pure.

So to every believing sister in Allah and the last day, we present this fragrant bouquet from the life of this unique generation.
May every sister embrace this noble biography in her heart and come to know the true role model whose fragrance has permeated and whose scent has spread.
For the female companions and the mothers of the believers are examples to be imitated and beacons to be followed.
By reflecting on their stories, hearts are revived, and by following in their footsteps, happiness and desired joy are attained.
By knowing their biographies and virtues, exemplary conduct is achieved with beautiful qualities and noble deeds.
So let us embark on this journey to these lush oases, to live in the realm of the sincere, believing female companions.